

Approximate driving distances to Walla Walla from:

Seattle	273 miles	439 km
Boise	254 miles	408 km
Portland	248 miles	399 km
Spokane	181 miles	291 km
Yakima	130 miles	210 km
Lewiston	99 miles	159 km
Pendleton	41 miles	65 km

Less than a half day's drive from the population centers of the Pacific Northwest, Walla Walla has it all - history, art, music and theatrical performances, wineries and the great outdoors. Trace the footsteps of Lewis & Clark, explore museums, and shop for art and antiques. Enjoy wonderful wines and food.

For more information call,

1-877-WWWVISIT

Or visit our web site at,

www.wallawalla.org

Experience Walla Walla

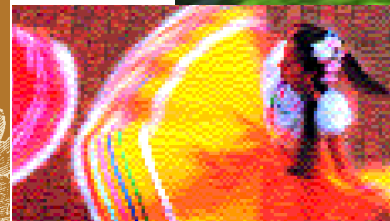

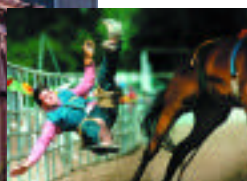

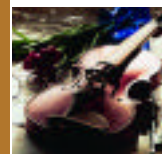

Experience the history, culture, wineries and great outdoors in Walla Walla.

Rich in history

Follow in the footsteps of Native Americans, explorers, pioneers, missionaries, and trappers. Immerse yourself in the rich history of the Pacific Northwest, touring restored buildings and sites. Talk with knowledgeable guides so that you and your family will better understand the people and events that shaped the westward expansion of America.

You'll see how they lived, how they worked and played. And you'll see how they died. The people of the Walla Walla valley played an important part in our nation's history that continues to inspire and fascinate today. Come experience their history.

Events and other attractions

Lewis and Clark made their way through the Walla Walla valley charting their course by the sun. With over 300 days of sunshine a year to enjoy, today's visitors can embark on a similarly exciting journey, navigating their way through a glittering landscape of music, culture, and camaraderie. The oldest continuous symphony orchestra west of the Mississippi River performs here. Professional theater groups regularly draw standing ovations. You can browse through fine art galleries, boutiques, and antique stores.

If it's fairs, festivals, tournaments, parades, thrills, chills, or waterfowl bills you seek, Walla Walla

Exploring the great outdoors

In this setting, it is hard not to find just the right outdoor experience for every individual or family.

For those seeking a relaxing encounter with nature's wonders, interpretive nature trails wind through miles of unspoiled forest; scenic overlooks along quaint country backroads offer breathtaking views of the valley; and tranquil lakes provide the perfect setting for a late summer afternoon picnic.

For outdoor adventures that are a bit more action oriented, the choices include fishing, hunting, hiking, horseback riding, boating, windsurfing, canoeing, and camping. The fun extends throughout the winter with downhill and cross-country skiing or snowmobile excursions in search of elk, deer, coyotes and bobcats.

Staying here

With hotels, motels, and unique bed & breakfast lodging opportunities you will find a location to suit your needs. For a complete and up to date lodging directory please visit our web site at www.wallawalla.org

